NKI receives support for four projects

Researchers at the NKI-AVL are using funds from A Sister's Hope to move forward on four separate breast cancer research projects this year. Wilbert Zwart, Dr. Sabine Linn and Prof. Daniel Peepers are coordinating those projects.

A Sister's Hope met with researchers at the University Medical Center in Maastricht in February to get to know them, learn about their projects, and make sure they know A Sister's Hope. The interaction created front-page news about one of the projects we fund!

Groningen research

Dr. Carolien Schroder spent some time with us at UMC-Groningen talking about the HER2 project she works on and thinking with us about the future.

Leiden

The communications office and breast cancer researchers at Leiden University Medical Center met with A Sister's Hope to discuss the actions taking place in Holland to fund vital research projects. The Center wants to help with that mission.

Without research, there is no hope. We have A Sister's Hope.

In a country of 16 million people, so many lives have been affected by breast cancer. And yet, the largest A Sister's Hope 60K Walk has had just 465 walkers and 80 crew.

Your help is needed in getting word to everyone in Holland that A Sister's Hope is the organization raising significant funds to support breast cancer research - research that has as its goal to identify better treatments, earlier detection and finding a cure.

The stichting is spending some money on bus stop posters and radio ads that will begin March 21, but the cost limits how much of this can be done. So the stichting is reaching out to you to hang posters, hand out flyers, get an article into the local newspaper and onto the local television and radio stations, enlist the help of your co-workers and neighbors, politicians and celebrities ... This all is being done to bring an end to breast cancer as soon as possible. This is all being done so that breast cancer doesn't claim the life of someone you love, or another life of someone you love.

Action!

If the day arrives when there no longer is a need for the 60K Walk because researchers have found a cure for breast cancer, that will be a beautiful day. Until then, we have some work to do.

Spread word!

Email us at Info@ASistersHope.org or call 06-47 94 1730 and tell us how many posters and flyers you can distribute and where we can send them to you. If you are able to pick them up in Groningen, Mijdrecht, Amsterdam, Zaandam, Almere, Utrecht, Leiden, Den Haag or Maastricht, that saves on postage costs.

Dank je wel!
